Art and sport.

« He draws his inspiration from the blue line. But where most of people would only see a pack on a starting line or a crowd of runners stretching towards the finish line, Vincent Dogna dreams of a work of art, a painting. His artistic eye is different because it belongs to an avid road runner, to a man who took dozens of bibs and ran thousands of kilometers. » (Pierre LEPIDI – Journalist at Le Monde)

After 3 years of study at the School of Applied Arts Duperré in Paris and 2 years at the Hainaut course of crafts in Belgium, he takes part in some exhibitions in France and in Belgium, without making a living out of it. Vincent then decides to train as an art designer. The transition from art drawing to graphic design allows him to find a job in an advertising agency as an art director. He decides to set painting aside.

In 1992 he discovers a new passion: running. He becomes an aspiring runner, who accumulates Marathon 10km races in France and abroad.

In 2006 he gets hurt and spends 6 months without stepping on the asphalt. He gets back to his paintbrushes and paint what he misses the most, the blue line -this ideal line drawn on the ground which guides you throughout 42km195. In 2009 he decides to show his paintings to the world. He quickly resonates with runners and specialized media. While he's organizing his first exhibition at the Ministry of Health and sports, his painting "blue line" is selected for the Salon of French Artists in the Grand Palais. His peculiar artistic work interests the race organizing committees. He starts to be a regular on «Running expos» and finds his audience in France and Europe.

In 2010 he decides to leave his agency to dedicate himself to painting. Even though his style is quite figurative, he isn't confined in a single style, only the subject drives him in his artistic approach. Today his artworks begin to cross boundaries because they represent a passion shared by millions of people.

“La course à pied est ma source d'inspiration,
et la peinture mon mode d'expiration”

SOURCE OF INSPIRATION AT SCHOOL

For the Côte Chalonnaise's 1st Marathon, about 15 schools in the region worked in plastic arts on the running theme from Vincent Dogna's paintings. An exhibition was organized with his paintings and students' works, which led to a beautiful exchange on the 31st of March 2017 with 12 classes.

SOURCE OF JOY ON THE FINISH LINE

His signed and numbered art prints are offered to randomly chosen runners on the finish line or given to the winners on the podiums. Some organizations committees prefer to give them to their partners.

PARIS
ETERNAL MUSE

Being Parisian for more than 35 years, Vincent Dogna currently lives and works in the 12th District. The City of Light naturally became inspirational. In 2011, he created the logo for 20KM de Paris for the ASCAIR and realized some of the posters for this iconic parisian race. The Iron Lady is also depicted in several of his paintings on the running theme.
